

How emel can offer advertising opportunities on tap

emel celebrates a rich and diverse community that provides distinct and untapped opportunities for advertisers. For example, the month of Ramadan is one occasion when there is heightened spending within the community. Forbes reported the global halal food market alone was worth £580 billion annually in 2007.

Our research has shown that with emel you can reach British Muslim professionals, business people and especially today's Muslim woman. No other magazine captures the UK Muslim lifestyle market so extensively.

Our advertising department can help you access UK Muslims. Having received positive media coverage including features on the BBC, CNN and Aramco magazine, we know what works. We can discuss your needs and offer specialist advice that gets the best out of your advertisement. With exclusive interviews and creative lifestyle features, emel will move beyond Muslim institutions and mosques and into the family home.
